Early Spring Newsletter - Dealing with the Crisis in Japan

Early Spring

Early Spring ... Sort of ...

I'm going to call this the Early Spring newsletter even though it's not officially spring as yet ... I'm tired of winter, so it's over for me ... hopefully, for you too!

Wanted to get this one out for several reasons. The events in Japan have necessitated "emergency action" on the part of Light Workers everywhere. The people of Japan need healing, the Earth needs healing and people around the globe need healing since there are many, many aspects to this crisis. Experts from many nations are assisting with the nuclear crisis, whereas volunteer rescue groups are trying to pick through the mountains of rubble to find what few survivors remain among the dead. What an overwhelming and monumental task!

As with Haiti, Light Worker grids helped tremendously and they can help Japan as well. Some of you have written to talk about the grids you have built and have even sent pictures! Each grid has come from the heart and it is truly wondrous energy! Others, remembering the Haiti grids, are asking what kind of grid they should make for this catastrophe. Have been thinking at length about this one ... no matter how you look at it, this crisis has brought change, both natural and manmade. The earthquake itself has literally moved Japan 8' and changed the rotational angle (a minute amount) of the Earth as a result. The tsunami has returned much of the land formerly reclaimed from the sea ... to the sea. The complex of nuclear reactors damaged in the combination of the earthquake and tsunami has brought the entire issue of nuclear safety to a head worldwide. This is not an issue restricted to Japan ... it belongs to us all!

As far as the grids go, construction patterns are up to you, but here are some suggestions for crystalline helpers.

Shard and warrior quartz

Shards and warriors show us that even though badly damaged, repair is possible. And through that repair, often the expression is more beautiful and intricate than the original. There are very positive crystals to use in the grid since they add the natural energies necessary to make a wondrous repair.

Growth interference quartz

These differ from shards and warriors in that they basically are not damaged, but their growth has been shaped by outside forces. Again, the expression is far more beautiful than the original. Thus, their inclusion in the grid marks the willingness to accept all change as a positive attribute.

Earthquake quartz

These seem particularly apropos since it was literally an earthquake (albeit an exceptionally strong one) that initiated the events in Japan. Earthquake quartz again shows the acceptance of change and healing in light of that change. All change must be accepted on a core level and then integrated throughout the entire person on all levels.

Lightning quartz

Lightning Strike Quartz

These also have been damaged and some have been damaged over and over, healing the old wounds and initiating healing in the new ones. They allow the transmission of the lightning strike and use it to raise the energies of the whole, thus using every potentially damaging incident to make them better.

Smoky and hotspot quartz

Radiation causes the smoky color in quartz and that's why you see smoky quartz coming from areas where there are natural sources of radiation. Hotspots come from point sources of radiation. The key thing is that the quartz transmutes the energy through the eons and the radiation is no longer dangerous. These quartz become critical to the grids involving radiation since they assist with the transmutation and control of radiation. A caution here ... they will no protect you from radiation but they will help you process low levels.

Enhydro quartz

These teach flexibility in the face of change. Water has no form other than its container and yet it has the ability to nourish tender seedlings with its spring rains or wash away mountains in its fury ... as we saw with its tsunami. The water in crystalline enhydros is exceedingly ancient and harnessed as it is within the crystal, holds the energies of when the Earth was formed. These crystals help to connect us to those times when the Earth was far more violent (in terms of volcanic activity, meteor strikes, earthquakes, storms, etc.) than it is now. They help to give perspective and hope for the future.

Aquamarine

Aquamarine is a quiet, serene, angelic energy that teaches us to remain centered, calm and focused in chaotic times. They are particularly useful with smoky quartz in helping to transmute radiation and quell the chaos associate with blind fear.

Morganite, Aquamarine and Tourmaline

Rose quartz

Gaia Star Brazilian Rose Quartz Sphere

Rose quartz is about love, beginning with love of Self. This is not a selfish love, but rather one that allows each of us to accept our individuality and Self-expression. When we are content with who and what we are, we are better prepared to assist others with an open heart.

Golden Lemurians

It is interesting that these surfaced when they did as their energy is precisely what we need at this time. Many of these are earthquake quartz and more than any other Lemurian, these recall the time of Lemuria. Between these and the Blue Tara Lemurians, I am convinced that Lemuria (Mu) was destroyed by a tsunami. These energies will help interpret the total meaning of the events in Japan.

Finis

So there you have the line-up. Many other crystals are useful and you will be called to use those as well. The important thing is to build the grid with love, to listen to the crystals so that they relate to you how they can help and to fill the grid with good intentions for all peoples. Add flowers, shells, feathers, beach pebbles, herbs ... whatever Spirit moves you to include. Celebrate the willingness of these Spirits to help and celebrate your Selves!

Thank you for your love!
