

Topaz Spirits

Newsletter Winter 2008

Wow, this has been quite the winter! I hope you all had wonderful holidays and are looking forward to the times ahead. All in all, it seemed to be a good winter for sitting inside in front of the fire to watch it snow. Here in Tennessee, the first signs of spring are emerging ... the robins are passing through, peepers are calling when the days warm and the crocus are braving the up and down weather.

This quarter, I'd like to talk about Lemurians, what makes a Lemurian (as opposed to just having Lemurian lines) and their various energies. It seems there are Lemurians everywhere and new types popping out all the time. So how do you know what is what?

In the beginning, there were the Pink and clear Lemurians, found in the sands in Brazil, separated from their clusters and without matrix ... as if planted there, thus they were often called Lemurian seed crystals. These in general are slightly matte finish, wands and have profound Lemurian lines, sometimes integrated with pyramidal glyphs. Some have faint white phantoms and the energies are gentle and loving.

In the 1990s, JaneAnn Dow introduced the Russian Lemurian (aka Sacred Scribe). These are from the famous mines in Russia where constant Earth forces and movements produce piezoelectric effects yielding the characteristic, albeit strange, blue lights in the mines. These are earthy Lemurians, generally glyph covered with lighter Lemurian lines. Most of the crystals are slightly to medium smoky with citrine tinges. JaneAnn's site (which may be retired soon since she has recently passed) gives wonderful descriptions in her own words.

Unfortunately, the mines are playing out and the Russian Lemurians are in exceedingly short supply and considered nearly extinct. The Russian Lemurian name has been trademarked in Japan (but not in the US or other parts of the world) and like many of the trademarked crystals, are advertised as not being genuine Russian Lemurians unless they have the trademark!

Trademarks cover the name only, not the product, so beware of this when you buy them. There are still genuine Russian Lemurians offered that are not sold by the owner of the trademark.

Later in the 1990s, the Mozambique Lemurians (aka Soul Shepherd) were discovered. In my opinion, these are the most mysterious and yet intensely personal Lemurians yet introduced. These are ones I never read too deeply and in fact some won't even say a peep to one who is not their true Keeper. When with their true Keeper, expect changes in the very literal sense ... I have seem them clear astonishingly in the space of a week. I have seen manifestors manifest and record keepers appear. Once this process begins, you will have a crystal that you will have all your life as your energies will be meshed and what she knows, you will know. Classically, these Lemurians are beat up and fairly dinged and yet, their energy is unabated. One I had was split in half and yet the light in her was astonishing! Like the Russian Lemurians, these are nearly extinct although a few new pockets have been uncovered.

Since 2000, more and more types are appearing and from very diverse locations: Columbia, Peru, Pakistan, Madagascar and a few others. And like their locations, the characteristics are diverse. Some have very subtle Lemurian lines, while others are profound. In some Lemurians, every side has lines while in others, the sides alternate between lined and unlined. Some lines never travel onto the faces, where others do. Some are brilliantly clear and water-white while others have many inclusions and may be deeply hued. And although a majority are wands, many are tabbies or doubly-terminated or even clusters. Physical attributes aside, the common thread is the messages each contains from the Lemurian civilizations.

There are crystals with Lemurian lines (those running parallel on the sides) that have no Lemurian energies; you will be able to feel the difference immediately. Let me explain. Scientists have proven that life as we know it on Earth was derived from space as a result of the debris carried in meteorites and comets that have struck the Earth. In fact, much of the water on the Earth was once trapped inside a comet. These same phenomena occur on many other planets besides the Earth and at different times and under different conditions. There is life on other planets, with each being its own unique expression of the primordial soup that was poured onto it. That being said, the original Lemurian civilization was formed as a result of the visits of extraterrestrials to the peoples of the Earth. There are crystals I call pre-Lemurian that seem to be describing the first interactions and then the various others that chronicle and communicate the subsequent information imparted by the Star Peoples. These records are those of Lemuria during an age when members of the mineral kingdom were recognized as sentient Beings with very different concepts of time. This melding of mineral, human and ET was indeed contributory to the step in human evolution that took place in Lemurian times. A true Lemurian crystal will recall these phases and you will get sense of the time.

Topaz Spirits

Newsletter Winter 2008

During the Age of Lemuria, crystals were not abused as they were in Atlantis. There is a happiness about each Lemurian crystal as they were used for healing, personal empowerment, visions and evolution. They were revered and not enslaved, thus they will open more readily and share their knowledge. We are moving into a time when the peace and tranquility of Lemuria is needed to stabilize our Selves, our communities and our planet. Thus, Lemurian records of all sorts are emerging to help those Light Workers with Lemurian roots ready to accept the quest.

As far as eBay goes, look for more wire-wrap-able crystals, loads of new things from Tucson (including a new find of Mozambique Lemurians) and many old favorites that seem to be calling out now – beginning March 6! And, there have been many additions to the Topaz Spirits website, so check it out too!

In peace and love –

Jan